Public Service Rates in Texas Cities*

INTRODUCTION

This bulletin is a revision of "Public Service Rates in Texas Cities" compiled by Mr. Edward T. Paxton of the Bureau of Municipal Research and Reference and published in 1915. To meet frequent requests for existing rates charged for these services in Texas cities the Bureau of Government Research has undertaken the revision of this bulletin.

As stated by Mr. Paxton in the first bulletin, the rates printed here are substantially the same as those received by the Bureau, "though as far as possible a uniform style of presentation has been aimed at. The Bureau assumes no responsibility for the accuracy of its informants' statements. It has been our effort to consult reliable persons, and to present accurately the information received from them. Here we feel that our responsibility ends. We shall deem it a favor, on the other hand, to be informed of any errors or omissions in the schedules which this bulletin presents.

"This bulletin is purely informational. No attempt is made to comment on any of the rates it lists. Furthermore, its users are reminded that the equity of public utility rates cannot be judged solely from comparative tables. The possession of the facts which the following pages attempt to set forth is the essential first step in any intelligent consideration of Texas' public service problem. The danger is, that these facts may be used as a basis for erroneous assumptions. Probably the hardest thing, as well as the most important, to remember about public utilities is, that it is unwise and often unjust, for one city to adopt, bodily and without reason, the rates in force in another city of the same size. The following schedules are intended as an incentive and basis for investigation; for, if a city is burdened with a rate for water, or light, or some other utility, considerably higher than the rate for the same utility in a neighboring city, it is worth while investigating the equity of the rate. But the schedules are not intended as anything more than that. Public utility rates depend on local conditions, because the cost of producing each of the several utilities depends on local variable factors. The fixing of just rates in any case involves the determining of these variable factors for the particular case. This is technical work, to be performed by men who possess the requisite technical ability, and who have the interest of the city at heart."

The thanks of the compiler are due to Mr. Robert D. Jackson, Assistant in the Bureau, who did most of the preliminary work in collecting and revising these rates, to the members of the Bureau staff, and to officials of cities and public service corporations, who have generously cooperated in this work of revision.

Our correspondent writes: "The sewer service for the entire city is free. There is no connection charge other than inspection fees charged for connection to such lines.

"We have a number of lines designated as private sewers, which were constructed by private individuals, on which they are allowed to charge a connection fee of $10.00 to $35.00 according to the cost of the sewer and the number of services which might be available to their lines, but when the builder of this sewer has received the actual cost of the sewer it then becomes a part of the general sewer system and no further charges are made."

Sign and display lights: Flat rates for sign, window and outline lights only, including patrol service for turning lights on and off. It is preferable to connect display lights to regular house meter, so the regular "sliding scale" of rates will be applied on the total consumption. In that case, an additional charge of 50 cts. per switch will be made for throwing switch on and off.

Fan rates: Flat rates on fans have been discontinued; all fans must be on meter. The above schedule of power rates will be applied on all fan meters.

Factory power rates: A special power rate known as a "demand rate" applicable to motors running under a high "load factor" or in other words, during a large number of hours every day. This rate is applicable only to alternating current motors supplied from overhead systems, those installations supplied from underground systems being expressly excluded. This rate is as follows:

1½ cts. per kwh. for the first 1,000 kwh. and 1 ct. per kwh. for all current used in addition, plus $2.00 per month per kw. demand. The demand is figured on the following basis:

From 1 to 10 kw. rated capacity where only one motor is used, 90% of the rated capacity of the motor.

From 1 to 10 kw. rated capacity where more than one motor is used, 80% of the rated capacity of the motors.

And in addition to the charge for the first 10 kw. for all installations above 10 kw., 70% of the rated capacity of the motor.

Above rates subject to 10% discount if paid before last discount day.

Note: In case more than one meter is set for any consumer, the consumption of the various meters will not be added together to get the quantity rate, but each meter will be figured separately. Consequently, all buildings should be wired and piped for the minimum number of meters possible if the consumer wishes to obtain the quantity rate.
